Local agency staff and officials can learn about participating in the statewide sustainability and climate change recognition program, The Beacon Award: Local Leadership toward Solving Climate Change, by participating in two free webinars offered by the Institute for Local Government.

The webinars will provide information regarding the program basics, including the application and acceptance process, tracking and demonstrating progress, as well as steps to achieving an award level. The webinars will also cover program participation benefits and opportunities for recognition. Click here for registration information.

The Beacon Award is sponsored by the Institute for Local Government and the Statewide Energy Efficiency Collaborative, an alliance to help cities and counties reduce greenhouse gas emissions and save energy. It is a collaboration between three statewide non-profit organizations, including the Institute for Local Government, and California's four Investor Owned Utilities. The Beacon Award program is funded by California utility ratepayers and administered by Southern California Gas Company, San Diego Gas & Electric Company, Pacific Gas and Electric Company and Southern California Edison, under the auspices of the California Public Utilities Commission.
