Tuesday May 15, 2012 11 am-12 pm

Register now!

This webinar continues a larger statewide discussion to ensure local governments have access to tools, resources and guidance in order to effectively integrate climate change impacts into local plans and programs.

The webinar will:

- Describe available state tools and resources to support local adaptation planning;
- Provide an overview of the newly released Draft Adaptation Policy Guide including climate vulnerability assessment, policy development, impacts by sector, regions and adaptation strategies;
- Gather feedback from attendees regarding components of the Adaptation Policy Guide; and
- Recruit communities to test drive the guide.

Speakers

- Michael McCormick, Governor's Office of Planning and Research
- Kurt Malchow, California Natural Resources Agency
- Adrienne Greve, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo
